The courses are listed as Leadership in Jewish Studies or JSTU-X170

Jewish Cooking

Thursdays 3:00-5:00pm at Hillel (every other week)
JSTU X170, course no. 35815

Students will explore the art of deliciously crafted meals and learn how to make traditional Jewish dishes - from challah to kugel to Israeli foods!

Hot Topics in Judaism

Mondays 4:00-5:00pm at Hillel
JSTU X170, course no. 35849

Ever wondered what Judaism has to say about some of the hottest and most controversial topics? This course will explore these topics and discuss and compare to what we believe and the impact it has on contemporary life.

The following course is listed in the IU Schedule of Classes under EDUCATION (EDUC):

Seminar in Leadership Training, Jewish Emerging Leaders

Mondays 5:30-6:45pm at Hillel
EDUC U495, course no. 8434

This course is for students in the fraternity/sorority community who identify as emerging Jewish leaders. This class is 2 credit hours and is not pass/fail. Students will receive a grade for this class.

This class provides a neutral platform for students to come together and communicate about common issues and problems they face as Jewish leaders and explores Jewish values and ethics as well as Jewish identity as students work to implement solutions. The class curriculum highlights the overlap between Greek and Jewish values and provides ways for students to weave these values together. This course also challenges students to build their leadership competencies and skills.
